- Rely+On infection control portfolio for the medical sector
- Disinfection solutions combating antimicrobial resistance
- Advanced formulations for rapid deployment
- LANXESS booth: Messe Duesseldorf, Hall 11, #E36

Cologne, November 10, 2025 – LANXESS will present its Rely+On infection control portfolio and range of active ingredients at Medica 2025 from November 17 to 20. By participating in the world's largest medical trade fair for the first time, the specialty chemicals company is emphasizing the performance of its disinfectant products portfolio in the medical sector and strengthening its presence in this segment.

Disinfection solutions against antimicrobial resistance

LANXESS will highlight its commitment to combatting antimicrobial resistance by presenting science-based disinfection solutions, including Rely+On Virkon, a globally recognized broad-spectrum disinfectant used in hospitals, medical laboratories, and public health facilities, and Rely+On PeraSafe, a leading product for the safe and rapid decontamination of medical instruments. Both products meet rigorous international standards and have demonstrated effective performance within EN efficacy testing standards, with Rely+On particularly suited for use in emergency outbreak scenarios involving SARS-CoV-2, avian influenza, norovirus, and other emerging pathogens.

Advanced formulations for rapid deployment

Alongside LANXESS will be presenting innovative, powerful active ingredients for formulators, such as Oxone (potassium monopersulfate), synthetic phenolic compounds, and aldehyde-based antimicrobials to ensure proven effectiveness and user safety. These products are designed for quick deployment to support
